

PERSONNEL UPDATE

Steve Rosenau
Director of Agriculture

American Crystal Promotes Rosenau

Steve Rosenau has been promoted to Director of Agriculture at American Crystal Sugar Company's Corporate Headquarters.

In this position, Rosenau will manage harvest and beet storage optimization for all American Crystal facilities with priorities on safety and policy and procedure compliance. His experience with proven management practices and systems and proper application of resources ensures leadership and expertise for essential company operations. He has been with American Crystal for 26 years and has held multiple positions including Corporate Controller, Business Development Manager, Financial Analyst, Factory Manager, Production Superintendent, and Process Engineer. Rosenau holds an MBA from the University of Mary and Bachelor of Science degrees in Chemical Engineering from the University of North Dakota and in Mechanical Engineering from North Dakota State University.

American Crystal is a grower-owned cooperative and the nation's largest beet sugar producer with operating facilities in Moorhead, Crookston and East Grand Forks, Minn.; Hillsboro and Drayton, ND; and Sidney, MT.