

Calcium Deficiency

Calcium deficiency symptoms are leaf tips sticking together and unfolding abnormally. Leaf tips and margins turn black and may appear to dieback.

Calcium deficiency is witnessed in sugarbeets during conditions of extremely fast growth during ideal heat and moisture. This is because Calcium is an immobile nutrient in the plant and can't get out to the leaf perimeters as fast as the plant is growing.

